

- Facades and Windows: Facades and windows are the most visible parts of a building and should be designed to be aesthetically pleasing and functional. Facades should be designed to be durable and weather-resistant. Windows should be designed to provide natural light and ventilation.
- Staircase: Staircases are an important part of a building and should be designed to be safe and comfortable. Staircases should be designed to be durable and weather-resistant. Staircases should be designed to provide a clear path of travel.
- STAIRCASE: Staircases should be designed to be safe and comfortable. Staircases should be designed to be durable and weather-resistant. Staircases should be designed to provide a clear path of travel.

(ii) Other considerations

- Other considerations: Other considerations include the building's location, the building's purpose, and the building's budget. Other considerations include the building's location, the building's purpose, and the building's budget.
- Other considerations: Other considerations include the building's location, the building's purpose, and the building's budget. Other considerations include the building's location, the building's purpose, and the building's budget.

□□□□ □□□□□□

□□□□ □□□□□ □ □□□□□

□□□□ □□□□□□ □□ □□□□□ □□, □□□□ □□ □□□ □□□□ □□□□□□ □□□□!